Learning Tips

Practice Active Recall

Test yourself on key concepts instead of passively re-reading notes.
Example: After studying a topic, close your book and try to explain it in your own words.
Use Spaced Repetition

Review material at gradually increasing intervals to improve long-term memory retention.
Example: Use flashcards or apps like Anki to space out your study sessions effectively.
Learn by Teaching

Explain topics to others as if you're teaching; it reinforces your understanding.
Example: Form a study group and take turns teaching each other different topics

Study Tips

Create a Dedicated Study Schedule

Set specific times and durations for studying each day to build a habit.
Example: Study math from 3–4 PM and take a 10-minute break before moving to another subject.
Minimize Distractions

Study in a quiet environment and put your phone on silent mode or use focus apps.
Example: Use apps like Focus@Will or the Pomodoro Timer for timed, distraction-free sessions.
Practice Time Management

Break your study material into manageable chunks and prioritize based on deadlines.
Example: Use a planner to divide study topics across the week, focusing on upcoming exams first.
